PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Dear Desalites,

Creating a group of learners with global thinking and perspective has been at the forefront of educational agenda for quite sometime. Many schools, experienced educators and even School Boards have been trying to instill this universal thinking in the mind of the students. And global thinking will sprout only when global education is imparted. Global education refers to an education that helps the young learners become globally aware and well equipped with 21st century skills. Global education builds among students the capacities to integrate a range of activities and sensitizes them to create a world of greater justice, tolerance, harmony, co-operation and collaboration, equity, appreciation for diversity that exist across the boundaries of the nations and human rights for all. It also seeks to raise awareness of global challenges such as poverty, unfair distribution of opportunities and resources, environmental degradation and climate change. The basic attributes of global education are the openness to multiplicity of cultures and traditions that exist across the globe along with the willingness to explore the ethos of other countries and a positive approach to deal with projects and programs pertaining to internationalism in the curriculum.

St. Francis de Sales Hr. Secondary School, Narengi, always stood for liberal outlook, inclusive thinking, freedom of expression and creative manifestations - keeping in mind the formation of a band of citizens who are truly worthy of the term - ambassadors of universal brotherhood. The educational activities and curriculum, co-curricular domains, infrastructure and administrative system, facilities and opportunities offered in the school, always synched with this idea of instilling a global thinking and value system to the future generation. Here I am delighted to place before you the latest edition of Desalite New & More for your happy reading. My sincere thanks and appreciation to all the members of the editorial team that includes committed and passionate teachers along with a group of students who are talented in their own field of interest. It is the fruit of their hard work that is in your hand.

God bless you all

Touching lives, moulding future

A SEMINAR ON 'COMPREHENSIVE MATHEMATICS' AT IIT GUWAHTI

It was Stephen Hawking who said "Mathematics is not just the study of numbers. It is the study of bounding and comprehending what cannot be bounded and comprehended." It was in pursuit of comprehension that on the 28th of October 2017, a group of forty-five selected students from Classes VI to X made a visit to the Indian Institute of Technology, Guwahati to attend a seminar on Mathematics organized by the Outreach Department of IITG. It was held at the renowned Lecture Hall in the IITG campus.

To our expectations, the 8-hour long seminar attended by many students of several schools turned out to be a power packed session of awe and learning. The all-day session was divided into three very interactive and interesting segments. The first of these was focused on "Experimentally understanding Mathematic Principles and Concepts ". This session was focused on experimentally deriving and proving certain frequently used mathematic principles and formulae whose origins are unknown to most of us.

The second segment on "The use of Mathematics in Cryptography and Data Transmission" focused on demonstrating to us how defense organizations use mathematics to encode and decrypt confidential data. It also focused on the origins of Digital Cryptography. The session was followed by a riddling segment where the students were shown a series of puzzles and riddles and which they solved enthusiastically.

The third and the post-lunch segment was perhaps the highlight of the day.

Focused on "WOW Maths", the session's objective was to teach all students that mathematics is beautiful and magical. The presenter, Mr. Kuldeep Karwa, who is the founder of 'Edugenie' and an alumni of IITG, beautifully demonstrated how mathematics can be magical and awe striking whilst highlighting the fact that a 'WOW should always be followed by a HOW'.

The students left the seminar satisfied and inspired. It reminded them that even though students in our country spend a large portion of their lives trying to get into an eminent institution like IIT, in the end it is all worth it.

All the students are extremely thankful to our principal Rev. Fr. George and Dr. Saurabh Basu, the event organizer for letting us avail this wonderful opportunity. A seminar like this can have a life changing impact on a student's life and we are very fortunate that this time, it did.

CHILDREN'S DAY CELEBRATION

"Each day of our lives we make deposits in the memory banks of our children."

They say the best things in life are free and it's funny how we fail to recognize them even though they are in front of us, each day and each hour. However on the morning of 14th November 2017, it took us only a split second to actually open our eyes and realize that what we had sought for had taken a form and transformed into the love that our teachers showed us.

The morning began as usual with the assembly, but the only difference was that this day the teachers were staging it. The performances that followed- dances, skits, songs and the speeches- lifted our spirits and made us feel extra special. It was evident that they had practised their acts to perfection.

The day ended with us leaving for home after a hearty snack prepared for us. As we departed, we had nothing but gratitude in our hearts.
